Welcome to The Compass Alliance Resource Repository!

Our goal is to curate this Resource Repository so that people with varying levels of FRC experience can all benefit from it! This includes those with little to no FRC experience that want to establish a strong foundation, all the way to those already familiar with FRC that want to further improve their skills. The repository is consists of "Beginner Building Blocks" with step-by-step instructional resources, so that people with no experience can start from the beginning and work their way up to more advanced topics. Those with more experience can also skip ahead to later topics.

In putting together this repository, we have included many awesome pre-existing resources that have already been created from other teams! We noticed that there were already many resources, but that they were all in different places. We hope to address this problem with a "one-stop-shop" resource repository.

In order to address the sustainability of this resource repository, this will also be a living repository that we constantly update with input from the community. As such, feel free to use this form to give us feedback. If you notice any problems with the repository, or have suggestions for material we can add, we'd love to hear about it!
